I have always been passionate about the entire creation process - from product design to styling, art, innovative technologies, analyzing and illustrations. I draw upon experiences in these various fields to bring an interesting approach to every project and to create the best result. In addition to my design interests, I have a love of music, art, fashion, exploring new cultures and cooking - a love that led me to launch my own creative-cooking blog www.chezdomia.com
